Stainless-Steel

Specialising in the Casting of Stainless Steel

-Your unique connection to a superior product range-

ROGER has strong connections with a number of suppliers globally, including some of the leading stainless steel casting organizations in India, one of the world's pioneering countries for quality engineering skills.

Given our specialist knowledge in stainless steel casting, we are able to assist a broad range of product manufacturers. Here are just some examples of the types of products we have helped people with...

- Parts for Marine
- Parts for Pumps & Lubrication Equipment
- Door Hardware
- Mechanical Engineering components

As a manufacturer, your products represent the future of your business. The success of a product is dependent on how much value it adds to your customer and the demand in the market for that product.

We believe that if you want to stand out from the competition, your products need to be different. They need to represent something that is unique to your business
